To find out where you or your family can get help, call Vermont 2-1-1.

Dial 211 from your telephone.

Tell the person who answers the phone in English, “I want an interpreter who speaks (your language or dialect).”

Wait on the telephone for a few minutes while 2-1-1 makes a connection with an interpreter.

The interpreter will talk with you and the person at 2-1-1 over the phone.

The person at 2-1-1 will ask you about what help you need. The person will tell you what programs or organizations may be able to help you and how to contact them.
